CHANGE OF PLANS

By Sarah Dessen (YA F Dess)

368 pages 2026 Realistic Fiction

When a sudden breakup destroys her mapped-out future, Finley is forced to spend the summer at her mother's estranged family estate, with people that she hasn't seen in years. Her mother has never much cared about having Finley get to know her aunts and cousins, making this sudden change of plans very out of character. GASLIT

By Megan Davidhizar (YA F Davi)

Instead of a fun evening of babysitting, she discovered her aunt and cousins sprawled across the floor, rendered unconscious by a silent, deadly gas leak. But the nightmare didn't end there; it was merely the opening act for the chaos that followed. As the situation spirals out of control, a chilling question emerges: if the gas leak wasn't an accident, who started it? (Grades 7 & up)

THE UNINVITED

By Nancy Banks (YA F Banks)

288 pages 2025 Mystery

Tosh has relocated to Paris from Portland, Oregon, because of her father's job — and to her surprise, she loves it. Her neighbor Nick takes her on quirky tours of the city and introduces her to his artsy, eclectic friends who share her curiosity about the world. They inspire her in unexpected ways, none more so than street artist Noor, whose paintings are bold declarations of women's strength and empowerment. But that message has never felt more urgent. Someone is attacking and biting women across the city, and whispers of vampires are spreading through the streets. As the danger creeps closer to home, Tosh will have to confront a literal and metaphorical predator — and fight to protect the new life she has come to love. (Grades 7 & up)
